Letter Graded

Classroom Protocols

Plan to join at least ten minutes before 5:30 pm, to make sure you are ready when class begins. (The very first time you join from a computer or device, allow extra time for set-up.) Students who are late, absent or leave early from class should not ask the instructor to review what they missed; therefore, students should exchange contact information with at least two others in the class for such purpose.

Course Format

Students must have regular access to email and the internet in order to communicate with the instructor, submit assignments, and engage in other class activities.

The classes for this course are facilitated remotely only. Students attend all class sessions online via Zoom using the My Video Conferencing application available on One SJSU.

For each session, use the same link below to attend class.

Course Requirements and Assignments

Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course for instruction, preparation/studying, or course-related activities.

The goal of this course is for students to demonstrate their understanding of concepts and apply approaches in-class assignments and through class participation, culminating in a final project and presentation. Weekly reading assignments should be completed prior the class date listed, unless otherwise specified. Planned assignments are outlined at the end of this syllabus and may be updated/revised in Canvas.

In-Class Participation

Students are expected to complete in-class assignments/activities, as well as participate in class orally by asking relevant questions, demonstrating comprehension of assigned readings, engaging guest speakers, and providing feedback on topics presented by classmates. In-class communication by speaking with cameras on is expected.

Application Assignments

Students will be assigned out-of-class and/or break-out assignments that will require applied knowledge and skills learned. Students will be required to research, write, and present to the class. Further details and deadlines will be provided in the Canvas Assignments channel.

Final Presentation

A final group project will be due at the end of the course (on a transportation-related topic that you determine with guidance from the instructor), that demonstrates effective marketing communication concepts and techniques. Each group will need to create an integrated marketing communications campaign. Groups will present during the final class(es) using a presentation platform such as PowerPoint, Google Slides, Prezi, or similar. Each student must adequately share in contributing to the group project and in delivering the oral presentation.

✓ Grading Information

Students will receive grades based on their timely turned-in assignments, class participation and final project. A rubric will be provided along with assignment/project details. Grades will be based on points earned according to the following chart:

Points	Grade
98 points and above	A+
94 to 97	A
90 to 93	A-
86 to 89	B+

82 to 85	B
78 to 81	B-
74 to 77	C+
67 to 73	C
60 to 66	D
below 60 points	F

- In-Class Participation activities will not be accepted late. Points will not be awarded to those missing class.
- Application Assignments will be accepted up to three days after the due date with a one (1) point grade penalty per day they are late (up to three points). Application Assignments received more than three days late will receive no credit.
- There will be two opportunities to present your final project. There are no make-up dates for the final project and presentation. Students will need to make all arrangements to be available on these dates.
- Extra credit may be available as assigned. Extra credit assignments will not be accepted after March 1st.

Criteria

Overall grading is based on the quality of work completed and the value added in class participation. Students can earn up to: two percentage points per class based on their participation for a total of 20% of their grade; 30% for application activities and assignments that will require students to research a topic, write about findings, and present those findings to the class; and 50% for the final project and presentation.

Breakdown

Activity	% of Course Grade	Course Learning Objectives Addressed
In-Class Oral Participation Five Activities worth 4 Points Each Up to 20 Points Total	20%	ALL

Applications/Assignments Three Assignments worth 10 Points Each Up to 30 Points Total	30%	1, 2, 3, 4
Final Presentation Group Project and Presentation Up to 50 Points Total (per Rubric)	50%	5, 6, 7
